

Large crowd enjoys Easter Egg hunt at Hawkins-Williams Park

A large crowd gathered Sunday afternoon, Easter Sunday, and enjoyed fun and fellowship at Hawkins-Williams Park. There was country music for the older "yunguns" and an Easter Egg hunt for the children. Over 3,000 donated eggs were "hidden" in the park to be searched for by the children. As can be seen in the picture above - the weather was GREAT! It was reported that a good time was enjoyed by all who attended the event.

GRANT FUNDS TO BE LOANED TO BUSINESSES

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Pete Perry speaks to Elba Merchants

Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce Pete Perry was in Elba Thursday afternoon, April 19, to view flood damage and to meet with local, state, and federal officials on the scene.

The purpose of the visit was to determine what assistance the Department of Commerce might be to the business community of Elba.

Perry was in Elba at the request of Governor Guy Hunt and Alabama Emergency Management Agency officials who have been on the scene ever since the flood.

Accompanying Perry were Bill Armistead, the Governor's Special Advisor on Economic Affairs; Gen. Ned Turnipseed and Ann Deal both with the Alabama Development Office; and Bill Brock, State E.M.A. Director.

While in Elba, Assistant Secretary Perry addressed a group of the Elba merchants gathered in the courtroom of the Elba Courthouse.

Perry stated that the DOC had approximately $12 million of its annual budget set aside for use in case of disaster, natural or economic, in communities such as Elba. He didn't know exactly how much of these monies would be allocated to the flood stricken city of Elba.

The primary interest of the DOC is to help maintain the employment base of the community; in other words, to help keep the jobs for the people.

Funds, usually a grant, from the DOC are given to a local governing body for distribution to local businesses in the form of low interest loans.

Applications for these loans are submitted by the business owners to a committee, usually one that is already established such as the city's industrial development board, for review and action. The use of an already established entity speeds up the process of getting the funds to those who need them the most, the businesses.

The meeting was opened for questions from those attending after Mr. Perry's opening remarks.

Charlie Hayes asked if a dollar amount had been allotted to the damage done by the flood in Elba.

Officials said that some figures had been derived at in some areas of destruction, but none on the total devastation left in the wake of the flood.

Delahia Christian, owner of The Flower Patch florist on the courthouse square, told Mr. Perry that she had been turned down by SBA for a loan to rebuild her business.

She said that she and her daughter were told that they did not qualify because their only source of income was the florist.

Perry told Christian that she would most likely qualify for a loan from the DOC funds because she would be a source of employment for other individuals. The entity making the loans would make the ultimate decision.

The purpose of these funds are not to take away from those private institutions in the money-lending business, but to do what they can't do for business owners like some of the ones in Elba who have lost it all.

The funds generated by the repayment of these loans will remain in the hands of the entity that is designated to make these loans. It can be used in the future to entice other individuals or groups of individuals to go into business in Elba, Alabama.

Perry stated that upon his return to Washington he would get with necessary people to get the "ball rolling" on getting these funds into the business community's hands.

The group toured the devastation and cleanup operation before their departure from Elba.

25 COUNTY ROADS REMAINED CLOSED

Meeting in regular session Monday morning, the Coffee County Commission met at the Enterprise Courthouse in Enterprise.

The first item of business was the awarding of the contract for the publishing of the poll list in newspapers within the county.

Receiving the contract was the Enterprise Ledger with a low bid of $183,199. The Ledger will print the poll list to be inserted into both The Elba Clipper and the Enterprise Ledger.

Publication of the poll list has to be done on or before May 10, 1990.

John Brim, county computer programmer, came before the commission requesting the purchase of a new computer system. The IBM Risk 6000 recommended by Brim is to replace the system lost in the flooding of the Elba Courthouse.

The cost of the terminals, printers and hardware is estimated at $138,037.00. Delivery of the system was promised by Pam Smith, IBM Manager from Montgomery to be within a week to ten days.

Smith was in attendance at the meeting to answer any questions that the commissioners may have had.

Upon the recommendation of Ronnie Burns, revenue commissioner, and Brim, the commission voted to purchase the new computer system.

The equipment is being purchased under emergency conditions; therefore, bids from other vendors are not required.

County Engineer Mark Pool requested the commission draft a resolution whereby culverts on dirt roads where the drainage area is over 950 acres may be replaced with a single span bridge.

FEMA will pay for 75% of the construction cost and the State Highway Department will pay the remaining 25%. This is possible because of the threat of a possible washout of these culverts during heavy rains.

Pool told the commission that these funds would pay for the culvert replacement at five different trouble spots. Over $250,000 is involved in this project.

Needless to say, the commission drafted and signed the resolution.

Pool reported that 25 county roads remained closed as a result of flooding. He stated that his department was continuing to make repairs, but that it was slow-going.

When asked when things would be back to "normal," Pool replied, "I hope by September of next year."

Wilson Mobley, county administrator, reported that attempts to recover financial data were still being made. He told the commission that the county had data up to February as far as accounting was concerned.

"If we don't get some FEMA money soon," said Mobley, "we're going to have to borrow some money to operate on - it's getting close!"

"We're spending a lot of money right now - a lot of money," he said. "We've got a lot of cost," Mobley stated.

Billy Egerton, commission chairman, informed the commission that temporary quarters for the probate, revenue, commissioner and commission offices were being set up in the health department building in Elba.

Egerton told the commission that the FEMA people were very complimentary to John Flowers and his people for the job that they had done in getting the health department building ready.

Commissioner Jim Dubose introduced Mr. Rory Daughtry to the commissioners stating that he, Daughtry, was involved in an accident on County Road 79 the night of the flood.

Daughtry told the commissioners that he was trying to get home on the night of the flood when he ran into a washed out portion of the road and totaled his vehicle, a 4 wheel drive Nissan.

The only coverage that Daughtry had on his vehicle was comprehensive; therefore, his insurance company informed him that this type accident was not covered in his policy.

Daughtry requested any financial help that the county might be able to give.

Egerton told Daughtry that he didn't feel that the county was responsible under the circumstances, but that he was very sorry for the accident. Also, there had been reports of several other accidents throughout the county similar to his.

The county was doing everything possible at that time to close the washed-out roads or mark the damaged areas, but because of the magnitude of the flood, it was physically impossible to get them all at once.

Commissioner Sid Averett stated that the commission should try to get these people some help through the disaster aid program.

The commission agreed to check with the FEMA officials on the possibility of obtaining some type assistance for these people who had suffered loss due to flooded road accidents.

Other matters coming before the commission were as follows:

Voted to purchase option on possible landfill site in north Coffee County in order to perform tests to see if the land is adequate for use as a landfill. Cost $1,000.

Request bids for precast concrete abutment panels.

Send out bids on steel piling.

Send out bid request on "Hot Pot" to be used by patching crew.

Request bids on 2 - 8 yd. dump trucks.

Instructed architects on jail to send out construction bids to building contractors.

Commissioners voted to adjourn until May 7th.

Lawford named to fill vacant council seat

Donald Lawford was named Monday night to fill a vacancy on the Elba City Council. He will serve the remainder of the District 3 term of Eddie Vaughan who resigned when his employment required a move to Samson. There is approximately two years left on the term. He takes office immediately.

Lawford was nominated by council member Randy Bedsole and the nomination was seconded by councilman John W. Sharpless. There were no other nominations.

Immediately after the flood the decision was a hard one to make as there were others who would have liked to have served. However when the time came to make the selection, Pat Booshe and Mayor Fred Moore as local agent to sign all the federal paperwork related to the grant applications from flood damage.

Moore was also authorized to sign grant applications in the effort to extend water lines to Kelley Foods.

Moore was named to serve on the Board of the Coffee County Emergency Management System, along with the other three mayors in the county. The committee will be chaired by County Commissioner Chairman Billy Egerton.

Major Fred Moore said Tuesday that Elba street department will not be able to honor the many request for dirt to be hauled onto private property.

He said the city haul was getting lots of telephone calls from residents wanting dirt hauled onto their property. He said the request were for from one to twenty loads of dirt.

Moore pointed out that it was against the law to haul dirt onto private property.

PROGRESS GOES ON! The bridge on Reese Avenue over Beaver Dam Creek Canal is history. Alabama State Highway Department crews began tearing the bridge out last week and is well on the way to replacing it with a new one. Plans to replace the bridge had been confirmed several months ago by the highway department, but they had been waiting until the by-pass was complete before beginning construction. Hopefully, the work will be completed as quickly as possible so that Kingston highway residents can return to their normal traffic routine. The old bridge seemed to have held up well during the GREAT FLOOD of 1990!!

The distribution of the donated funds to Elba flood victims is being done by the Alabama Bankers Assn. in Montgomery. However the applications are being reviewed by a committee of local residents who must decide if flood victims get $50, $250, $500 . . . or none at all. That is probably an awful hard job and we are glad to sit back and let someone else have the gut wrenching chore of making those decisions. Most who will apply for that money need thousands, but the most anyone will get is $500 simply because there isn't enough to go around. Also if you plan to make a donation to the city for any reason, be sure to indicate exactly what you want it used for. If you want the people to get this money, you need to indicate that when you send your check, otherwise it will go into the city funds with our tax money. For the money to legally be given to the residents and you still get tax deductions, you must indicate in writing your desires.

It is real refreshing to be leaving the downtown mud and wreckage from the flood, drive up Claxton Avenue toward our temporary office and see the beautiful roses in the front yard of Robert and Louise Cooper. With a little imagination, each of us can pretend the tender love and care given those beauties was done just for us! Mrs. Cooper will graciously agree and if you tell the retired postmaster a good fish story, he will also.

There are two things we need to mention to flood victims. First . . . don't pay a contractor for work before the work is done. In fact if you have any doubts about someone wanting to do work for you, call city hall or the police NOW. Second . . . if you need help clearing up your home, contact city hall. There are a number of weekend volunteers who come in from other cities and want to help. Your name can be placed on a list and when these folks ask at city hall or the police station "Where can we help?" Bingo! Your help is on the way.

We are hearing all kinds of rumors about these truck loads of building materials coming into town and going to "special people" (whomever that is). Folks, we have been keeping a pretty keen eye on happenings around town and anything of that magnitude would be seen by some of us. There is a committee set up to solicit building materials and they are working in that direction. It will be for home owners and businesses. At present only a partial load of insulation has been received and given out to flood victims, correctly. Now we ain't forgetting that plywood stacked on the square the first week and hauled off by the truckload. We saw some of that and wondered if it was to help a friend (or a whole bunch) or whatever since the truck owner lived out of the flood damaged area.

The flood insert in this issue of The Elba Clipper was printed by The Dothan Eagle and The Enterprise Ledger. They donated the inserts to us for the readers of The Elba Clipper. Tell them thanks.

We were sitting in a restaurant one night recently and were hit with explaining some awful big words. We had some we could answer and others which had us puzzled. We observed that some lawyer probably wrote them down. However a lawyer sitting with us was just as confused. Finally we were given a challenge to define neophyte's serendipity. We think our associates didn't believe we could solve such a problem but we did. The Neophytes is a hard way of saying novice or first time while serendipity is defined as finding valuable things not sought for. Thus neophytes' serendipity . . . is plain of beginner's luck.

The Alabama legislature finally passed the education and general fund budgets at the last minute Monday night. It amazes me that we get a law requiring the budgets be passed before anything else is done and the lawmakers pride themselves on finding ways to get around the law . . . the one they themselves passed. We need these folks in Montgomery to operate our government, but this country boy can sure get aggravated at the way the system works.

Mr. Morrow & Miss Hudson Are United In Holy Matrimony

On Saturday, March 17, 1990 at 6 o'clock in the evening, Miss Aleah Hudson and Mr. Blue Morrow were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Helms, Jr. and the late Paul J. Hudson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lubert Morrow.

The Reverend John Carmichael administered the traditional wedding vows of the United Methodist Church. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Pam Baker, pianist, and Mr. Marty Harrison, soloist. Mrs. Sybil Taylor of Montgomery directed the wedding.

The bride wore a white tulle length gown accented with seamed pearls and sequins on the bodice, and a shoulder length veil. The bridesmaids wore tea length tulle dresses of hunter green. Mrs. Millie McCollough of Elba was the matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were: Mrs. Ceina Spicer of Elba, Miss Gypsy Morrow of Mobile, Miss Jeanne Hilbert of Pensacola, Mrs. Maria Vines of Birmingham, Miss Kelli Stephens of Dallas Texas and Miss Christy Myers of New York City.

The groom was attended by his father, Mr. Jake Lubert Morrow, as his best man. Other groomsmen were Mr. Bert Morrow of Tuscaloosa, Mr. Bert Barr of Enterprise, Mr. Duffy Thaxton of Tampa Florida, Mr. Drew Graham of Huntsville, Mr. Keith Murdock and Mr. Hunter Hudson of Elba.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Murdock on Semole Circle. The reception and wedding were decorated by Mrs. Nellie Martin and Mrs. Janice Clark with seasonal flowers of dogwood, azalea and bridal wreath grown by Mrs. John Harper and neighbors of Mrs. Martin.

Miss Gina Donaldson registered the guests. Miss Michele Cox of Russellville served the groom's cake. The bride's cake was served by Mrs. Mary Holley and the punch by Mrs. Nadine Scarborough. Others assisting Mrs. Murdock with the reception were Mrs. Kate Ham, Mrs. Lois Holt, Mrs. Mary Grider and Mrs. Sara Strong.

PARTIES

Pre-nuptial parties for Miss Hudson and Mr. Morrow included a dinner party on March 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Boyd III. Thirty guests were served a delicious meal by the following hosts: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Boyd IV, Mr. and Mrs. John Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Clark and Mrs. Joann King.

On Friday, March 16, a cocktail buffet was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Pearce. Other hostesses for the brunch included Mrs. Janice Clark, Mrs. Dixie Dorsey, Mrs. Kate Ham, Mrs. Millie McCollough of Elba and Mrs. Wendy Zessin of Andalusia.

A groomsmen brunch was prepared at the home of Mrs. Jeanette Kendrick with Peggy Devane, Mrs. Betty Cox, Mrs. Liz Murdock, Mrs. Elizabeth Banks and Mrs. Joyce Barr of Enterprise assisting.

Following a wedding trip to Hilton Head, South Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Morrow are at home in Douglasville, Georgia, where she is employed by K-Mart and he by Flowers Baking Company.

THIS MARRIAGE SHOULD LAST FOREVER AND EVER...AMEN.

reprinted from the Franklin County Times of Sunday March 25, 1990 by Michele Cox

Her wedding dress, his parents' home, and the downtown Elba, AL, church in which they were to be married were all under water, but Aleah and Blue postponed their wedding only three hours last Saturday.

"They've been sweethearts forever, it seems. They were in the same class, attended the same church, went to the prom together. They were buddies. When she went to Auburn and he went to Alabama, they continued to see each other."

Most of their friends expected they'd get married one day, especially after he left a job in Mobile last summer to move closer to her in Atlanta. Few were surprised when for Christmas he gave her a diamond.

"I'm proud of him," said his daddy said after the engagement was announced. "He's caught himself a good one. I told him if he didn't hurry up and give her a ring, she was gonna get away."

In early February, the groom's father had a heart attack and spent several days in the hospital. Later in the month, the bride was promoted, and wasn't even sure she could get her wedding day off. But the family proceeded with wedding plans.

Saturday, despite a devastating flood, they became husband and wife. "At about 10 o'clock, I sat down with the children and said, 'It's your wedding, what do you want to do,'" the bride's mother said Saturday night. "Aleah said she wanted to get married today and Blue agreed."

Quickly, plans were made to move the wedding to a Methodist Chapel located north of the flooded City of Elba. A neighbor and a creative bridesmaid decorated the tiny church with azaleas, bridal wreath and other flowers in season.

The bride went to the nearest working telephone - 10 or 15 miles away - and phoned her aunt across the river in Enterprise. Two hours before the wedding and an 85-mile detour around flooded bridges later, her Aunt Nina produced two wedding dresses, two bouquets from which to choose and two bridesmaids dresses which hadn't yet been picked up.

The wedding cakes were on high ground and friends and neighbors pitched in and produced punch, crackers, dip, fruit and other party food from their pantries: both grocery stores were under water. Somebody went to the county line and bought all the available champagne. More flowers were picked from un-flooded yards. And the mother of one of the groomsmen graciously agreed to host the reception.

Bridesmaids who had flown in from across the country were incredulous. Natives of larger cities, they couldn't believe the way small-town folks rallied and helped. Friends who either in the day had escaped their homes with only the clothes on their backs - no pajamas, no toothbrush, no belongs - attended anyway.

"I must think a lot of you two," a neighbor of the groom chuckled. "I had to borrow underwear to come to this wedding."

At dusk, traditional wedding music was played on the upright piano in the little chapel and a choir of crickets joined in. The bridesmaids - one of whose home was submerged - wept almost uncontrollably.

"We liked it better than if it was the way we planned, it," Blue said after it was over. "We could see everybody."

Indeed, they could. As if it had been planned that way for months, every seat was taken, but no one had to stand.

And when they repeated the traditional vows, pledging to love honor and cherish until separated by death, there was silent nod of agreement among the congregation members.

Considering the odds they've already overcome, this marriage should last forever.

RED CROSS Poem

Again I say thanks for being there, during the time we had so many tears to share.
Written by Lula M. Cole

Red Cross is more than giving and receiving blood,
I can speak from the Elba Flood.
Red Cross was more than a friend they suck with everyone to the end.
I could never thank Red Cross enough.
They helped us when time was rough.
Thank God for Red Cross
With the big heart.
They gave us light when there was dark.
Red Cross gave us a home
Just when we thought we was alone.
I'll never forget what Red Cross has done.
Especially for me and my son.
Remember as you go through life
Look for the big Red Cross
Remember March 17, 1990
Elba was a big loss.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The members of the Elba Rescue Squad are to be commended for their part in the recent flood of Elba. As we all know the people on the rescue squad are all volunteers and devote much of their time to this organization.

The night of the flood, members remained on duty at the squad and assisted in notifying the people of Elba when to evacuate. In fact we nearly lost one ambulance before we could remove it from the flood area.

We were able to take all of our ambulances to the hospital where they remain on stand-by. All other equipment except that inside each ambulance was lost. This included much of our stock of medical supplies.

We are very short-handed with people to operate the squad. A fourth of our people suffered loss of homes and businesses. These people are now trying, like others, to recover and clean up their homes. There is an extreme shortage of qualified personnel during the daytime to answer calls.

I personally review each run sheet which is made out on each run and have found that many of the people calling the rescue squad could have been taken to the hospital via private autos or were not really that sick. The rescue squad is for emergencies and consideration should be given that only qualified people can make runs.

Because of the loss of radio equipment at the police station it is very hard to reach people to make runs. Of course we will overcome these obstacles in time so bear with us and please do not abuse this much needed operation.

Sonny Inman
Commander

Dear Editor:

As Director of the Coffee County Department of Human Resources and as Chairman of the Coffee County Chapter of the American Red Cross, I wish to express my genuine appreciation to all who assisted with the operation of the shelters for flood victims in Elba.

The Coffee County Department of Human Resources opened a shelter at the Army Reserve Center at 5 PM on Friday, March 16, 1990 with the approval of Elba Police Chief, Freddie Hanchey and Elba Mayor Fred Moore. I immediately contacted members of my staff to report to work. I also contacted Angela Spegal, Manager, Coffee County Chapter of the American Red Cross to report to the shelter.

We kept this shelter open until 5 AM, Saturday, March 17, 1990. At 5 AM we moved the shelter to the First Assembly of God Church in Elba located on Highland Drive because the Army Reserve Center was about to flood. Members of my staff, Mrs. Spegal, and others worked around the clock to meet the needs of the flood victims.

It is impossible to list all the people who assisted with the shelter operation in Elba. However, I would like to mention the following persons and agencies:

A. Staff of the Coffee County Department of Human Resources.
B. Mrs. Angela Spegal, Manager, Coffee County Chapter American Red Cross, Mr. Paul Smith and Mrs. Helen McCahan, Red Cross Volunteers.

The National American Red Cross.

D. Mr. James Spurlin, Director, Army Reserve Center, Elba.

E. Mrs. Nancy Person, Coordinator of Volunteers, Coffee County Chapter American Red Cross and all Coffee County Chapter Volunteers.

F. Reverend and Mrs. Larry Powell, First Assembly of God Church, Elba.

G. The First Assembly of God Church, Elba.

H. Coffee County Health Department.

I. Coffee County Mental Health Center.

J. All person, business, and churches who contributed food and other resources.

K. Wallace Miller and Brandi Thomas, WKMX.

The list could go on and on. However, it is simply impossible to list everyone. For those names I have omitted please accept my apology and please know that your services are remembered and appreciated.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ronald C. Smith, ACSW
Director

Dear Mr. Cox:
In the Elba School System, the Teachers, administration, and Secretaries should be highly commended for a job well done. It has not been easy considering the circumstances and conditions in which they have worked. Their main concern has been their children's education. I think all of these people deserve a special thank you from all of us.

Sincerely,
Gwen Reeves

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to you, your family and your staff for the super job of covering the flood and putting out the paper under terrible conditions. I'm sure the community appreciates your work and will find inspiration in the encouragement that you gave to rebuild, as well as the example that you set. A town needs its newspaper most at a time like this.

Dear Editor:

Thanks for The Clipper. I feel as if I have been home each time I read it.

Sirs, Sam Conner

Dear Sir:

I am a volunteer firefighter/EMT with the Ozark Fire Department. On Tuesday night, April 17, 1990, I was dispatched to the scene of an accident involving a school bus accident on US 231, south of Ozark.

Emergency medical technicians responded from Wicksburg, Wallace College, Slocumb, Hartford, Troy, Daleville, Ozark, and Newton. MAST teams from Fort Rucker also responded. With so many people at the scene, there was a potential for chaos and confusion. However, that did not happen. The teams all worked together very smoothly and efficiently. Triage (classifying the severity of injuries) was done with minimum of fuss, treatment was given immediately, and the transportation of patients was prompt and orderly. The training and professionalism of the responding EMT's was very evident. It was also apparent that the emergency planning at the hospitals was being used. They did a super job of receiving and treating the students and notifying families.

I think the public needs to know that the service given by all of the paid and volunteer medical response teams was outstanding.

Sincerely,
Charles R. Ward
Ozark, AL

Dear Ferrin:
As I mentioned to you, I wanted to do something on Elba's great flood of 1990 and how The Clipper managed. If copies are still available, could you send me an issue of The Clipper the week after the flood?

I'd like to use it for a story I want to do for Publishers' Auxiliary, and also to keep in my file of historic newspapers that I use in class.

Thanks
Sincerely

Dear Editor:
Today is April 19, 1990. Exactly thirty four days after the flood. As I sit here writing this I am still overwhelmed that something so incredible could happen to this town.

I moved to Elba ten years ago with my husband and small daughter. So I'm not a hometown girl. When we came to this town we knew only one other couple and I felt very lonely and lost being away from my hometown.

We had not lived here for more than a week when we began to meet some of the townspeople and began to feel welcome. I will say this, I have lived many places and I have never lived anywhere, not met any kinder, more generous, finer people than right here in Elba, Alabama.

Family and friends have asked me how I like living in Elba (such a small town) and I've told them Elba is my home and I want to grow old and gray headed here. Now that "our" town has experienced such devastation I believe it even more strongly because I have seen what this town is made of.

I returned home from the beach Friday afternoon before the flood, never even giving the rain much thought. A good friend called that afternoon and asked if he could bring his daughter over because the river was coming up into his backyard. I thought that was when I realized I think that was when I realized we were in trouble. I called Ted (my husband) at work and told him I thought maybe he should come home, there were folks that may need our truck. That began a 44 1/2 hour task that I will remember for the rest of my life.

I don't remember how many people we saw or just exactly who they were but I do remember thinking and praying that we could work faster and harder for the strength to keep going. (also not to get snake bit) I saw people... black, white, rich, poor, young and old from all walks of life risk their lives for others. I saw two men pick up a refrigerator that normally would take four men to move. I know the good Lord gives strength when we need it.

The think that stands out in my mind the most was the unselfishness of the people that live in our town. When I came back to work at "The New Elba High School" I felt it and saw it again. These people I work with are really made of "the right stuff". There is a staminal inbelievable.

I could continue this letter for days recounting the things I've seen and heard. Elba is my home, it's where I want my son and daughter to grow up, it's where I want to spend the rest of my life. Elba, Alabama may be a small town but it has a heart as large as the whole State of Alabama and the spirit of the people in this little town is undaunted.

The future of Elba is bright, for the people of Elba are unrivaled and strong. They will overcome this tragedy "for that which doesn't kill us will make us strong". Thanks for letting me say this, I'm honored to be a part of Elba.

DEAR EDITOR:
Recently, I was with a group to hear Jim Watley, gubernatorial candidate speak. I was really impressed at the way he conducted and presented himself. He spoke on the many issues facing our state (not on any opponent). His ideas, assertions, priorities, and challenges in these difficult times have opened my eyes to what's really going on with our educational programs, our health care, the crime and drug abuse, taxes, and the lack of leadership in the executive and legislative branches of our government.

It appears that the Media, do not present this candidate in his true light. This candidate appears to be well educated and well informed on the issues. He's straight-forward on what his position is and how he proposes to handle these issues.

The media, apparently, thinks because Jim Watley doesn't have the amount of money for campaigning which the other gubernatorial candidates have, that he's a write-off. However, I disagree with this philosophy after hearing him speak and do commend him as the only candidate who has not taken funds from the groups known as PACS (who has run this state for many years) and from the Special Interest groups.

I believe Jim Watley is telling us the truth on these issues. Other candidates running for Governor whom I've heard have not made as good an impression on me as Jim Watley has.

On his campaign card, he lists Hamilton as his residence; so to all the voters in Hamilton, Marion County and to all the State of Alabama, you should be proud to have a person and a Candidate of this caliber to represent the State of Alabama as your next governor.

Jim Watley is certainly looking into the future of Alabama and if you haven't heard him speak do not miss the opportunity.

Write him at Hamilton, Alabama, for his itinerary and then gather a crowd and go hear him. It's worth the effort.

Thank you for allowing me to express my feelings to your readers.

Sincerely,
Cheryl C. Raby

Mr. Ferrin Cox
Publisher, The Elba Clipper

First of all, it certainly was nice seeing a former school buddy again after so many years. High school was a long way back!

I'm writing to commend you for the hard work you are doing under adverse circumstances to provide residents of Elba and those of us who have a special interest in residents of Elba with current, dependable information about the situation there since the flood. Many articles, written by uncommitted reporters who were just out for a big story, either played up or down the facts. In your coverage it is obvious you are trying to give needed and helpful information and encouragement. It isn't hard to see that you are concerned about your fellow citizens and your town.

You, and all the people of Elba as well, should be proud of yourselves. As best you can, you are going about the tremendous task of cleaning up and carrying on with a spirit of determination and perseverance that is remarkable.

In my observations of the people of Elba, when a look of defeat crosses a face, it is only there for a moment. In years to come, those of you who persevere will, I am certain, look back on this tragedy as a time when families and neighbors and friends from next door, across town, other cities and other states joined together to tackle the seemingly insurmountable task of restoring your homes, businesses and beloved City of Elba, and won!

The proud, yet humbled people of your City deserve only your best efforts. You have given them a good newspaper in the past, and I'm sure you will continue to do so in the future. Keep up your good work!

Sincerely,
Annette(Maddox)

Publisher's note: Mrs. Rogers is a sister to Tom Maddox of Elba. She was in Elba right after the flood with a group helping clean out the mud. It is people like her who have gotten Elba this far along with overcoming the ravages of the flood. Her reference to being a school buddy of the gray headed Elba Clipper publisher is a fact. However she was one of those sweet younger girls that made the upper classmen wonder if they had been born several years to early.

County Plans To Hire An Emergency Director

Steps were taken during a Thursday afternoon, April 19, meeting of county and municipal officials to establish a Coffee County Emergency Management Agency.

The recent Elba flood and a serious bus wreck in a neighboring county has caused county leaders to place a "high priority" on the establishment of the emergency agency.

A committee of five individuals was appointed by the county commission to oversee the hiring of a director and the establishment of an emergency management agency within the county.

It was projected that this task might take up to two months after decisions concerning the job and the advertisement for the job of director are complete.

Serving with Coffee County Commission Chairman Billy Eagerston will be the four mayors of the county's municipalities or their representatives.

Eagerston told those attending the meeting that Coffee County would be responsible for 100% of the cost of the EMA office if it is established prior to October 1. The state will provide 50% of the cost if the office is established after October 1.

The salary range for the EMA director in some other counties in the state is $17,000 to $26,000. There are also other expenses of the office that are paid by the counties such as transportation, radios, secretarial, office space, and etc.

It was agreed upon by all in attendance, that Coffee County certainly need an emergency agency and the sooner the better! Disasters do not wait until everything is in place before they occur, they have their own timetable!

Many economists feel the American people need the trucking industry to help maintain our healthy economy. Trucks, if it seems, are clearly a key partner in our day to day lives.

One Month Later

Volunteer help is still available to local residents for clean up efforts. Moore suggested someone needing help call city hall and get their name on a list needing help. Then when these volunteers arrive in town, they can be directed to those who need the help.

sia that water was rising in the substation in Elba. We were instructed to disconnect the transmission line feeding from Elba's substation to our station in Victoria to prevent it from going out. I took a key to our serviceman to unlock the switches and disconnect the line feeding from Elba. When I crossed Whitewater Creek I was amazed at the volume of water rushing past the bridge. After the switching at Victoria was done I rode down

Victoria was done. I rode down highway 167 to where I had been told it had to be because that's what I saw. Quiet, peaceful. Pea River had turned into a raging torrent. Up to 17 inches inches of rain had fallen in the area north of Elba. The creek had become a raging Creek flow thru. All this incredible amount of water found its way to Elba and resulted in a nightmare for the people. Sunday afternoon, March 2nd, when I was in the area, I asked her if she remembered what happened in Elba when she was a little girl. She did remember the flood and I told her it happened again. Tuesday afternoon, March 20th, our plans called for the funeral to be held in Troy on Thursday with burial at the cemetery in Basin south of Elba. As we passed thru Elba on the way to the cemetery, I was overwhelmed by what I saw.

My family's sense of grief and loss was shared by the citizens of Elba. As the funeral procession wound its way down highway 189 south of town we passed the dirt road where you turn to go to the cemetery. As we in on an in on it, we started up the hill I remembered the numerous times mother had told me about the infamous flood of 1929. As a 12 year old girl she had come to this very spot on a wagon to see the boats that were being pulled out into the water and paddling inland to rescue people. history had indeed repeated itself.

My mother had the worst case of the blues and rheumatism ever seen. Although it ravaged her body, her double measure of the human spirit refused to give in to it. This double measure of the human spirit is what is going to take for Elba's people to restore their town. If I were a being man, would not bet against them.

'One Month Later' will appear in the June issue of Alabama Living Magazine. We would like to thank Mr. Eiland for allowing us to use his story.
